Town Approves Water Utility Feasibility Study
Water Utility Could Serve Five Corners Area

The Town of Cedarburg has approved a contract to investigate the feasibility of a Town water utility to serve the Five Corners area.

“There are several reasons why the Town may wish to provide water to Five Corners,” stated Chairman Dave Valentine. “A municipal water supply would improve fire protection and facilitate commercial and mixed-use development that is consistent with our Five Corners Master Plan.”

The town has extensively studied and discussed the Five Corners area over the past several years, culminating in the creation of the Five Corners Master Plan in late 2005. A copy of the Five Corners Master Plan can be found on the Town website www.town.cedarburg.wi.us

The feasibility study, which will locate and evaluate groundwater sources in the area, also provides the Town an important planning tool that will be utilized in the comprehensive plan update for the entire Town.

EARTH TECH, Inc., a leading environmental service firm, will conduct the study.
